Library of Congress Subject Divisions for Philosophy and related resources include B for Philosophy (General), BC for Logic, BD for Speculative Philosophy, BH for Aesthetics and BJ for Ethics and QH for Bioethics.

CIRCULATING COLLECTION

Our Library Catalog can be used to identify books and eBooks on a particular philosopher. If you are looking for works by the philosopher, click on Search from the Main Catalog Search page and choose the Author field and type in the philosopher's name. If you are looking for works about the philosopher, choose the subject field instead. Note that there may be many eBooks on the topic. The eBooks are digital representations of print books.

SOURCES OF EBOOKS

NetLibrary – Contains many eBooks on philosophers and philosophical topics. Access is through our online databases page. Select NetLibrary and you should see the correct interface. You can search the author, title, subject, keyword, or full text fields. For example, if you search the title field for Kant’s Critique of Pure Reason, you will get four hits in your result list. Select the View this eBook link to view the item. Some books may also be downloadable.

Credo Reference is a searchable online reference collection that contains the full text of 19 titles in philosophy. Some sample titles are Chambers Dictionary of the Unexplained, Edinburgh Encyclopedia of Continental Philosophy, and Encyclopedia of Empiricism, among others. Links are provided to other online resources.

REFERENCE COLLECTION (1st Floor)

REF B51 .E53 2006
The Encyclopedia of Philosophy, 2nd Edition

REF B104 .V47 2008
Encyclopedia of Philosophers on Religion

REF B655 .Z69 A84 1999
Augustine through the Ages

REF B819 .M53 2008
Historical Dictionary of Existentialism
ONLINE PERIODICAL DATABASES

Academic Search Premier – While this is a general purpose academic database, there are many philosophy titles covered including Criminal Justice Ethics, Philosophical Quarterly, Philosophy and Research in Phenomenology, among others. You may want to be specific in your search or somehow mention the word philosophy since if it is a popular term, it may come up with other things (such as Much Ado about Nothing).

JSTOR Arts and Sciences I-V – This database is focused on scholarly journals from their inception until about 5 years ago. The acronym is for Journal Storage and was originally designed to help libraries deal with a backlist of their journals. The strength of this database is how far back the coverage goes. You can really explore a lot of different ideas in different points in time. Some philosophical titles include: Journal of Philosophy (1921 – 2004), Ethics (1838 – 2004), Mind (1876 – 2002), and The Philosophical Review (1892 – 2006), among others. There are 52 Philosophy titles in total (although there are many other journals in related disciplines).

OFF-CAMPUS ACCESS TO ONLINE RESOURCES

Our online resources are available to you 24/7 whether on our campuses or off-campus. If off-campus, you will need to provide your ASU-Beebe ID and Six-digit birthdate upon accessing the products. If you go to our online databases page and select the alphabetical list of databases you will see the entire database list. When you choose a database from off-campus, you will see the prompt for your user information. Once provided, you should be able to use the product as normal. If you have problems accessing the product, contact us and let us know. You can call 501-882-8976 or circ@asub.edu. In addition, you can also contact me at 501-882-8959 or rsruss@asub.edu.